Executive Summary

Led by the Council Lifelong Learning service, a refreshed Edinburgh Community Learning and Development (CLD) Partnership has produced an Edinburgh CLD plan for 2018-2021. The plan will not articulate the totality of CLD activity across the city, which is wide ranging and is already contributing to and reported in other plans and strategies. Instead it will focus on key areas of activity identified by partners, which will add value to community learning and development delivery, by identifying where the partnership can bring fresh thinking and collaborative effort to make a difference and improve outcomes.

Edinburgh Community Learning and Development Partnership Plan 2018-2021

1. Recommendations

- 1.1 That Committee notes the Edinburgh Community Learning and Development Plan 2018 - 2021 and will receive annual updates on progress

2. Background

- 2.1 Under the powers of the 1980 Education (Scotland) Act, the Council has to fulfil the Requirements for Community Learning and Development (Scotland) Regulations 2013.
- 2.2 Local authorities are expected to identify individuals and groups and their needs in regard to community learning and development; to assess the degree to which these needs are being met; to identify barriers to the adequate and efficient provision of community learning and development; to publish a three year CLD plan.
- 2.3 The plan specifies how the local authority will co-ordinate this community learning and development with other people (including partners) who provide this activity; what action the local authority will take to provide community learning and development over the three years; what action the other people including partners will take to provide community learning and development; any needs for community learning and development which will not be met within the period of the plan.

3. Main report

- 3.1 The new Edinburgh Community Learning and Development Plan 2018-2021 reflects the ambition of the CLD Partnership to do all in its collective power to be effective at making a positive difference for people in Edinburgh.
- 3.2 A refreshed Community Learning and Development Partnership was formed in October 2017. Organisations include Police Scotland, NHS Lothian, Edinburgh University, Edinburgh College, Edinburgh Youth Work Consortium, Desire Lines (Arts and Cultural sector), Edinburgh Voluntary Organisations Council, Volunteer Edinburgh, Edinburgh Leisure, Lothian Association of Youth Clubs, Skills

Development Scotland, Edinburgh Inter Faith Association, Workers' Educational Association, the Council Lifelong Learning, Economic Development and Strategy and Insight teams. The remit of the Partnership is attached at Appendix One.

- 3.3 The Partnership has developed the new plan for 2018-21. This plan recognises that a wide range of organisations deliver CLD in the City. These include the public and third sector working with children, young people and adults. The intention of the plan is to add value to this delivery by identifying where the partnership can bring fresh thinking and ideas to address what are often longer term so called 'thorny' issues. The partnership does this by using data to identify some of these intractable issues and agreeing to harness their collective resources to focus in on actions which will bring about positive change and progress.
- 3.4 The plan therefore does not reflect the broader CLD activities already reported in other plans. It will however monitor this broader range of CLD activity, promote sharing of good practice and challenge Council and partners where it feels that there is lack of activity or the activity itself is less effective in meeting identified needs and/ or national and City priorities.
- 3.5 The plan is a living document and as such will develop organically and change over time. When the Partnership meets quarterly it will review progress and make changes as required.

4. Measures of success

- 4.1 Key performance indicators being met.
- 4.2 Annual report on plan progress.

5. Financial impact

- 5.1 None. The majority of actions are within existing resources or may require a realignment of resources. There may be potential for the Partnership to identify sources of external funding sources to commission research on the impact of community learning and development.

6. Risk, policy, compliance and governance impact

- 6.1 The success of the plan will depend upon an ongoing commitment from all partners (including the Council) to sharing, collaborating and targeting resources.

7. Equalities impact

- 7.1 The plan activity focuses in improving life chances and opportunities for groups who have protected characteristics including young people, older people, people affected by mental health and wellbeing issues.

8. Sustainability impact

- 8.1 The plan supports a sustainable Edinburgh by targeting resources at those most in need and by adopting an enabling approach ie: supporting people and communities to realise their potential.

9. Consultation and engagement

- 9.1 The plan reflects some of the priorities identified through the Locality Improvement Plans consultation, an evaluation of the CLD plan 2015-18, face to face conversations and questionnaires with learners and volunteers, Council and partner staff workshops, audit of the four locality action plans, the developing Local Outcome Improvement Plan and its themes, relevant council, partner and community plans.

11.2 Appendix Two Edinburgh Community Learning and Development Plan 2018-2021

Edinburgh Community Learning and Development Partnership Remit, October 2017

1. Act as the main agency for the strategic development of community learning and development in Edinburgh
2. Share good practice, develop new areas of work and collaboration in response to new and emerging needs
3. Provide governance for the new CLD Plan and monitor its performance and progress
4. Ensure the new plan draws down relevant CLD actions in other partnership plans and the Locality Improvement Plans and that interrelationships between plans are clearly articulated
5. Oversee the extent, quality and impact of CLD across the city. Identify how good CLD in Edinburgh is as a community of practice, i.e. what works well, where there are gaps, and how collectively/strategically these might be addressed
6. Set up or ensure consistent use of a performance framework to support the monitoring of progress
7. Advise the Community Planning Partnership on community engagement and community empowerment
8. Investigate practice in other local authorities and partners which could provide learning for the way we do things in Edinburgh
9. Represent Citywide Community Learning and Development activity to national agencies, forums etc including Education Scotland

CLD: Vision

By 2021 community learning and development activity will have enabled people, particularly those people who are more vulnerable or disadvantaged, to make positive changes in their lives and in their communities through learning.

Welcome

Welcome to the Edinburgh Community Learning and Development (CLD) Partnership plan which sets out our collective ambition to make a positive difference for people in Edinburgh.

We recognise that a wide range of organisations deliver community learning and development in the City. These include the public and third sector working with children, young people and adults. The intention of the plan is to add value to this existing delivery by identifying where we as a partnership can bring fresh thinking and ideas to address what are often longer term, so called 'thorny' issues. The partnership will do this by using data to identify some of these intractable issues; consider what actions have worked in the past or are working presently, both in Edinburgh and in other local authorities, to address these issues; engage with target groups to co-design service activity and harness the collective resources across the partnership, focusing on actions which will bring about positive change and progress.

The plan therefore does not reflect the broader CLD activities already reported in other plans. It will however monitor this broader range of CLD activity, promote sharing of good practice and challenge Council and partner organisations where it feels that there is lack of activity or the activity itself is less effective in meeting identified needs and/ or national and City priorities.

Thank you to learners, volunteers, partners and CLD staff who have contributed to the plan development. This contribution has been carried out through evaluation of the CLD plan 2015–18, face to face conversations and questionnaires with learners and volunteers, Council and partner staff workshops, an audit of key themes in the four locality action plans, the developing Local Outcome Improvement Plan and its themes, relevant council, partner and community plans.

The plan is a living document and as such will be reviewed and amended in light of experience and changing needs and expectations.

What will the CLD Partnership change and improve in Edinburgh?

The changes and improvements fall into four main areas:

Planning for Improvement

Reflection and self-awareness through self-evaluation are fundamental for good CLD practice: seeking to improve professional competencies around community learning and development and continually improving practice in order to become more effective and have greater impact. The Partnership will champion self-evaluation, share and promote examples of how this has led to improved practice and outcomes for citizens. It will also champion the effective use of data through workshops to improve staff knowledge and in sharing data across partners in order to inform effective practice.

Improving the life chances for people of all ages

Youth work is intrinsic to community learning and development and to meeting the needs of children and young people, who have a right to experience the best possible start in life. It isn't easy being young today and sometimes, through circumstances beyond their control, they may find life particularly challenging. Delivering high quality youth work requires high quality youth work practitioners: confident and competent, knowledgeable and skilled, ambitious for children and young people and able to help them achieve their potential and be the best they can be. The Partnership will champion existing competencies for youth work, identifying and developing training to enable staff to effectively communicate with young people, appreciate and understand their realities. There is a perception among partners that children and young people from black, Asian and minority ethnic communities do not engage widely in youth work. There are likely to be a number of reasons for this. The Partnership will establish a baseline of participation levels and consult with young people to explore potential barriers to participation and identify ways in which these could be overcome.

Literacy and numeracy are important life skills and not having these can be a disadvantage in a society which assumes the possession of these skills. The Partnership seeks to more effectively meet the needs of the learners including the systematic use of individual learner plans that clearly identify learner progression. It recognises the need to be more creative in engaging people who would not necessarily want to come forward or identify themselves as being someone in need of literacy and numeracy support.

Mental health and wellbeing touches all of our lives. Staff sometimes lack knowledge and communication skills in communicating effectively with people who are affected by mental health issues. The Partnership will work alongside existing training plans and programmes to share knowledge of what is available and to create new staff learning opportunities.

Building stronger, more resilient communities

Social isolation, linked increasingly to poor health outcomes, can occur in rural and urban environments and has been linked to wider changes in society. There are a range of organisations in Edinburgh which exist to connect people who are socially isolated. The Partnership will look at examples of the impact of models in Edinburgh and beyond and work on how good practice models could be extended and professional awareness of what is available improved.

Involving local people in decision making and services design, while a key Christie Commission recommendation and intrinsic to community empowerment, isn't always as widely adopted as it could be. The Partnership will look at successful models within and outwith Edinburgh and seek to encourage the adoption of effective forms of local decision making.

Monitoring and Reporting

One of the issues for community learning and development has been, albeit that some good practice examples exist, a lack of consistency in data gathering and in particular baseline performance gathering and reporting. A consequence of this is that what is at times excellent work remains hidden as staff are not able to demonstrate improvement and change. The Partnership will develop a means of monitoring and reporting information to measure the impact of CLD Partnership activity in this CLD plan. It will also identify existing mechanisms and those in development which together will ensure that it has an overview of the impact of citywide CLD activity.

Unmet need

There is a requirement to identify unmet need – as in those needs which will not be met in the three years of the plan. The Partnership will seek to interpret what this means for Edinburgh and the role of the CLD Partnership, identifying potential unmet need during the first year of the plan. Certainly, at a time of unprecedented budgetary constraint, it behoves the Partnership to, as Jim Collins states, 'confront the most brutal facts of your reality'. It may be that CLD, as much as it needs to define what it can do, needs to also define what it cannot do.

A three year plan

As a result of engagement with partners and an exercise to identify key priorities, the plan shows a greater level of detail in year one; some of these year one actions may extend into years two and three. A list of additional themes for years two and three are included at the end of the plan. Plans are living documents and planning an organic process. The more detailed picture for year two will be teased out during the course of year one; the detail of year three will be developed in year two.

This approach recognises the need for flexibility in planning: being able to adapt to unforeseen circumstances, as needs change and demand on resources increases or other resources become available. These changing needs and demands will require improved partnership and collaborative working, in order to target resources and develop services for those most vulnerable and disadvantaged in society, a principal tenet of community learning and development.

'The true measure of any society can be found in how it treats its most vulnerable members'
Mahatma Gandhi

What is Community Learning and Development?

Community Learning and Development (CLD) supports primarily disadvantaged or vulnerable groups and individuals to engage in learning, personal development and active citizenship, bringing about change in their lives and communities. CLD is a distinctive process of engagement and support, with a learning content that is negotiated with learners.

Community Learning and Development activity has a strong focus on early intervention, prevention and tackling inequalities.

Community Learning and Development is widely understood to include:

- * community development (building the capacity of communities to meet their own needs, engaging with and influencing decision makers)
- * youth work, family learning and other early intervention work with children, young people and families
- * community-based adult learning, including adult literacies and English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL)
- * learning for vulnerable and disadvantaged groups in the community, for example, people with disabilities, care leavers or offenders
- * volunteer development
- * learning support and guidance in the community.

Community Learning and Development's specific focus should be:

- * Improved life chances for people of all ages, through learning, personal development and active citizenship
- * Stronger, more resilient, supportive, influential and inclusive communities.

The Edinburgh CLD Partnership Plan

Community Learning and Development (Scotland) Regulations 2013

Under the powers of the 1980 Education(Scotland) Act, the City of Edinburgh Council, in common with every local authority, has to fulfil the Requirements for Community Learning and Development (Scotland) Regulations 2013. Local authorities are expected to:

- * Identify target individuals and groups and their needs in regard to community learning and development
- * Assess the degree to which these needs are being met
- * Identify barriers to the adequate and efficient provision of community learning and development
- * Publish a (three year) plan which specifies:
 - How the local authority will co-ordinate this community learning and development with other people (including partners) who provide this activity
 - What action the local authority will take to provide community learning and development over the three years
 - What action other people including partners will take to provide community learning and development
 - Any needs for community learning and development which will not be met within the period of the plan

Consultation is intrinsic to the development of the plan. Consultation with learners who are representative of the target groups, people including partners who provide community learning and development, volunteers, sessional staff, Council staff, other organisations and groups relevant to the provision of community learning and development. The result of this consultation is an Edinburgh CLD Partnership Plan which is relevant to the community learning and development needs and aspirations of Edinburgh's citizens and communities.

The plan is an evolving document that is reviewed annually and amended in light of changing priorities and circumstances.

Who is involved in creating the plan?

The Community Learning and Development Partnership is involved in writing, developing, reviewing and monitoring the plan. This planning process is led by the Lifelong Learning Strategic Manager (CLD and Libraries). Central to the development of the plan is consultation and engagement: with learners, volunteers, members, target groups, sessional staff, partners, Council staff, others involved in community learning and development activity.

The Community Learning and Development Partnership includes organisations with a citywide remit including representatives from National Health Service Lothian, Police Scotland, Edinburgh University, Edinburgh College, Edinburgh Youth Work consortium, Edinburgh Voluntary Organisations Council, Volunteer Edinburgh, Desire Lines (Arts and Cultural Sector), Edinburgh Leisure, Lothian Association of Youth Clubs, Skills Development Scotland, Edinburgh Inter Faith Association, Workers' Education Association, the Council Lifelong Learning, Economic Development and Strategy and Insight teams.

The CLD Partnership acts as the main agency for the strategic development of CLD in the city and provides governance for the three year plan through:

- * Sharing good practice and developing new areas of work in response to new and emerging needs
- * Ensuring the plan reflects Council and partner community learning and development activity in response to new and emerging needs
- * Overseeing the extent, quality and impact of community learning and development activity across the city
- * Developing a performance framework to monitor progress and identify strengths and areas for improvement
- * Advising the Edinburgh Partnership on community engagement and empowerment
- * Learning from good practice in other local authorities

The wider legislative and policy context for the plan

A wide range of national and local guidance, plans and policies provide a framework to inform and influence the plan. Some of these key documents are listed below:

What are the local policies and plans which influence the plan?

'Live Well in Later Life', Edinburgh's Joint Commissioning Plan for Older People 2012–2022 covers care and support services to older people over 65 years of age and aims to improve outcomes for older people.

Youth and Children's Work Strategy for Edinburgh 2017–20 provides a framework for the delivery of children and young people's services

The Edinburgh Children's Partnership Children's Services Plan 2017–20 directs strategic planning, development and delivery of children and young people's services on behalf of the Edinburgh Partnership .

The Edinburgh Partnership is the community planning partnership for Edinburgh. The aim of the Partnership is to deliver better outcomes for communities, and particularly for those experiencing the greatest inequality. How it does this is set out in a Local Outcome Improvement Plan. This plan focuses on partners working together to address poverty and inequality with the priority themes covering income maximisation, housing and place, education and employability. Community participation and influence is central to the work of the Partnership.

This citywide activity is complemented by four Locality Improvement plans (LIPs), one for each of the South West, North West, South East and North East localities. The LIPs aim to deliver better outcomes for individuals and communities by simplifying and strengthening existing improvement planning and partnership working, placing communities at the heart.

Demographic, socio economic drivers: a growing city with growing inequality (Council Business Plan)

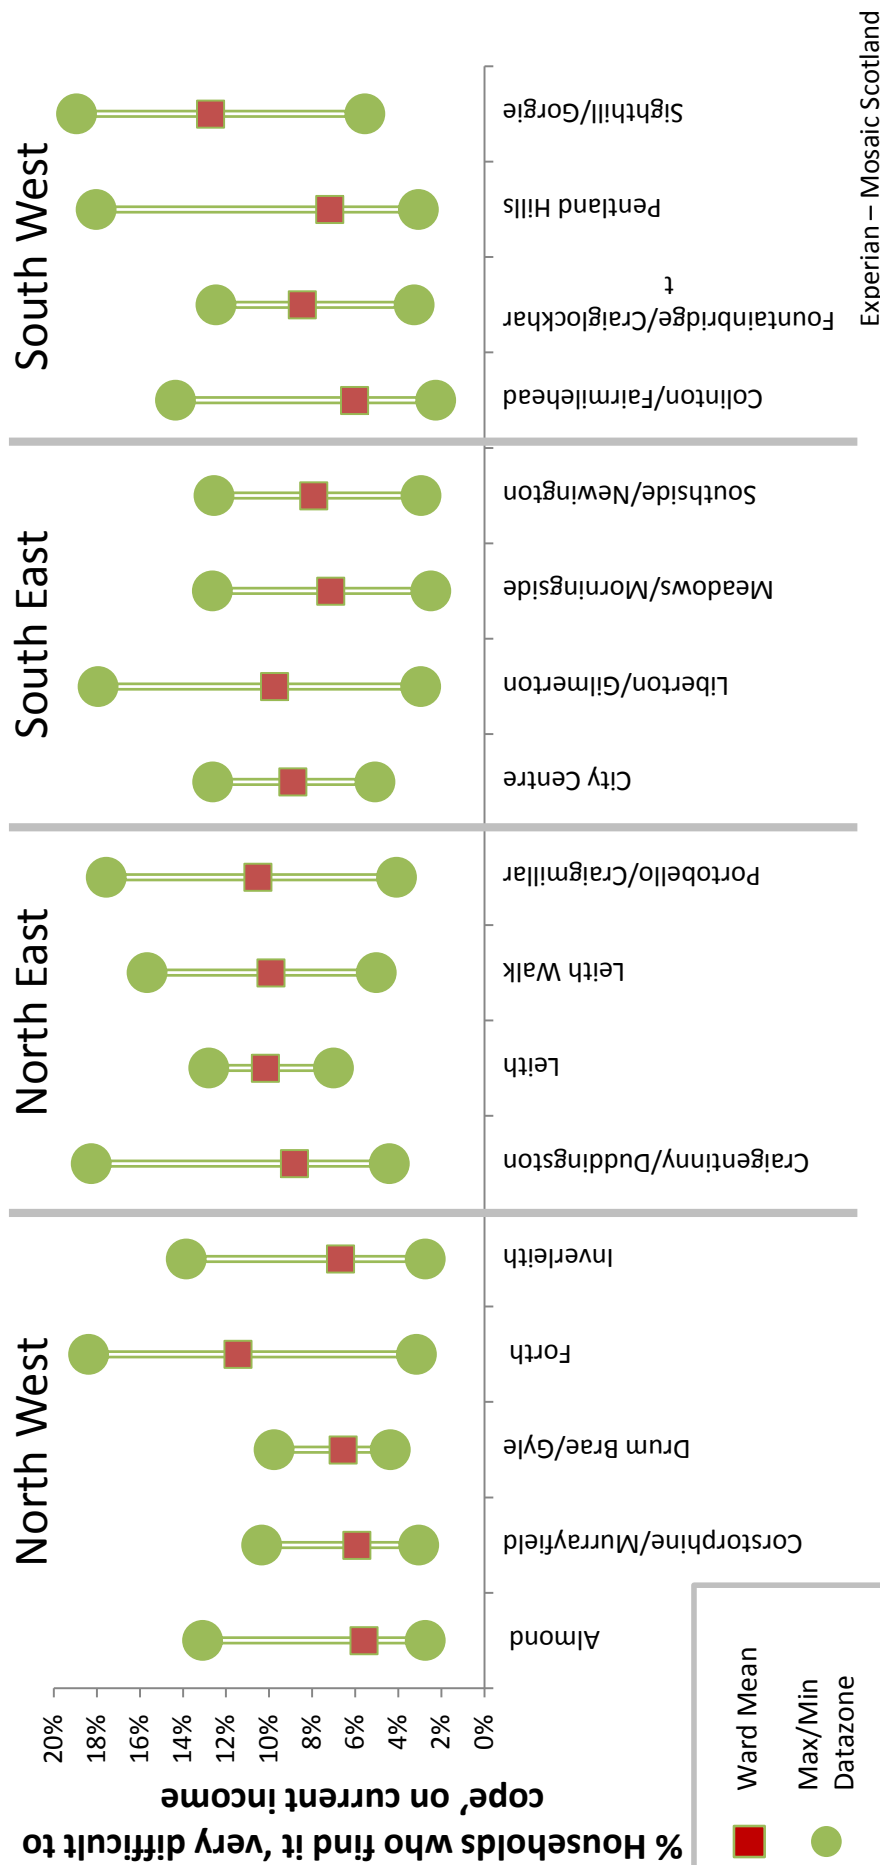

Over the last 10 years	Over the next 10 years
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> * Edinburgh has been one of the fastest growing local authorities in the UK * Edinburgh has an estimated population of 506,000 which makes it the second most populous city in Scotland and the 7th in the United Kingdom * From 2005 to 2015, the population of the city grew by 10% – over 49,000 people * This is more than double the growth seen across Scotland, and faster than that of any other city 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> * Analysis suggests that Edinburgh is likely to see further population growth – it is estimated that it will reach 567,000 by 2030 * The projected population increase from 2014 – 2024 is 44,500 people (9%) with strong growth at both ends of the age spectrum * The population aged 12 – 17 is projected to grow by around 23% in this period * The population aged over 75 is projected to grow by 25%, almost 3,000 people over the same 10 year period

This growing population is one of the most visible signs of Edinburgh's success. However, not all citizens share in that success and alongside the affluent areas, Edinburgh contains some of the most deprived communities in Scotland.

- * In 2015 estimates show that almost 80,000 people in Edinburgh were living on incomes below the UK poverty threshold
- * This means that 16% of Edinburgh's citizens are living in poverty, a rate very close to the Scottish average of 18%
- * Within that overall rate, poverty levels among households with children are particularly high
- * Data shows that 21% of all Edinburgh's children grow up in poverty, meaning that over 20,000 children in the city live in families who get by on very low incomes.

These estimates mask the depth of poverty and income inequality faced by many. Within the most deprived wards of Edinburgh, as many as 30% of all residents live in households below the poverty threshold. Looking at smaller geographical areas and communities, these rates can be even higher, with pockets of poverty and deprivation as severe as those recorded in any other part of Scotland.

Section 3: Building stronger, more resilient communities

Steps taken by the CLD Partnership to build the capacity and agency of communities

High level improvements	1.1	Provide more opportunities for local communities to participate in decision making and the co-design and delivery of service.
	1.2	Improve skills, knowledge and confidence of communities to build active participation.
	1.3	Local people feel their voices are heard and are more connected and invested in their communities.
Outcomes	Links to other plans and strategies	Time scale	Actions	Leads	Key Performance Indicators
Year 1
1.1 1.2	Community groups and individuals have the opportunity to be engaged in planning and evaluation of services Skills and learning opportunities are co-ordinated by partners and communities to ensure that provision is targeted and reaching those most in need	June 2019	Partners will be involved in this review The CLD Partnership will contribute to a review of criteria applied to the distribution of funding through the Third-Party Revenue Grants.	John Heywood Lifelong Learning Ian Brooke Edinburgh Voluntary Organisations Council Laurene Edgar Lothian Association of Youth Clubs	Record of consultation and feedback Revision of Third-Party Revenue Grants.

1.2	Vulnerable people are supported to reduce sense of loneliness and social isolation by building better connections between services.			Look at the impact of models such as Community Connectors in Frome (Dorset) and Next Door App. Audit similar programmes in Edinburgh, share this information widely. Look at how successful initiatives can be extended to other parts of the City	Paul Wilson Volunteer Edinburgh Ian Brooke Edinburgh Voluntary Organisations Council Peter Strong (North West Locality) Gill Geany (Police Scotland) Paul McCloskey Lifelong Learning	Reported improvements in vulnerable people feeling less isolated as a result of improved local/ city connections
1.1	Local communities are more involved in decision making (particularly people who don't usually participate in dialogue) and their capacity to effect change is increased.		May 2019	Learn from other successful models within and outwith Edinburgh eg: Fife model which focused on political literacy, asset transfer and helping people define and address local issues (partnership of Fife College and CLD). Consider role of 'critical thinking' for citizens as part of this process.	Gill Geany (Police Scotland) Paul McCloskey Lifelong Learning Archie Campbell (Workers Education Association) Sheila Duncan Lifelong Learning	Examples of successful models
1.1 1.3	Citizens are more involved in deciding how budgets are spent.		February 2019	Explore different ways of engaging people in communities of all ages to influence the budgeting affecting their lives eg Canny Cash	Jan-Bert van den Berg Artlink Ian Brooke Edinburgh Voluntary Organisations Council John Heywood Lifelong Learning	Examples of good practice
1.1 1.2 1.3	Community Centre Management Committees are confident in managing and making the most of local assets	Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act	December 2019	Training programme developed and implemented Review and revision of Community Centre Handbook Development of Keyholder policy	Ian Brooke Edinburgh Voluntary Organisations Council Paul McCloskey Lifelong Learning	Feedback for Management Committees Record of training Production and implementation of Keyholder policy

Section 4: Monitoring and reporting

Steps taken by the CLD Partnership to improve governance, monitoring and reporting

High level improvements	3.1 Strengthen the governance arrangements for CLD and the links with Locality Governance
	3.1 Improve and strengthen the monitoring of CLD across the partnership
	3.1 Improve mechanisms for reporting on the impact of the CLD Partnership
Outcomes	Links to other plans and strategies	Time scale	Actions	Leads	Key Performance Indicators

Relationship between The Lifelong Service Plan, Edinburgh CLD Plan and other plans

A Lifelong Learning Service Plan sets out the strategic context for the work of the newly formed Council Lifelong Learning service area.

Lifelong Learning Service provides locally delivered lifelong learning opportunities for individuals and groups, including access to libraries and information services, youth work, adult education, community capacity building, arts and creative learning, health and wellbeing, parent and carer support, sport and physical activity.

The diagram below illustrates the relationship between the Council Lifelong Learning Service Plan and the new Edinburgh CLD Partnership Plan.

Community Learning and Development is a major contributor to national outcomes as outlined in Scotland's National Performance Framework below.

Scotland's National Performance Framework

Since 2007, National Outcomes have provided a focus and direction for policy action across the public sector. The National Performance Framework (NPF) has transformed the way public services are delivered in Scotland into an outcomes based approach. The outcomes approach is now placed in statute through the Community Empowerment Scotland (2015) Act.

In June 2018 the new NPF was launched, based on the kind of Scotland people said they would like to live in. A new set of National Outcomes was developed, which reflect a unified vision as described in the NPF's Purpose, Values and National Outcomes (left). This helps us to achieve goals that improve the wellbeing and quality of life of the people of Scotland. They reflect our values as a nation and the aspirations we hold for our future. It also links with our commitment to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals which are aimed at improving wellbeing across the world.

The relationship of Community Learning and Development to the national CLD Outcomes, National Education Priorities, Locality Improvement Plans and Lifelong Learning is illustrated below
