Item 6.3 – City of Edinburgh Council response to the Scottish Government Advisory Group on Economic Recovery Call for Views

Committee:

- 1) Notes with concern that the matter was dealt with under delegated powers when the call for evidence was issued on 18 May, and Policy & Sustainability Committee met on 28 May, three days before the deadline of 31 May. This meant there was no consultation with councillors other than the Leader and Deputy Leader and condemns the continued approach of taking important and politically sensitive decisions in private without reference to Committee despite the commencement of fortnightly Policy and Sustainability meetings and the work ongoing to reinstate full Council.
- 2) Further notes that the request from the Scottish Government is specifically for information on the local situation which is lacking from the response which quotes national figures rather than furnishing the Scottish Government with the particular needs of the situation in Edinburgh and considers that this is a lost opportunity to communicate the specific needs of the city to the Government.

1.3 Notes the need to review the City Region Deal to reflect the new circumstances and to embed new powers over revenue-raising and regional planning which will allow local government and partners to deliver a green recovery

1.4 Welcomes the Edinburgh Climate Commission's forthcoming report on the key elements of a green recovery

1.5 Notes the UK Government's intention to pursue Brexit without an extension, rather than taking account of the current emergency circumstances, and continues to press the UK Government to negotiate for a suitable extension period

Full Council shall take place on Thursday 25th June 2020 as originally scheduled. Policy and Sustainability should be rescheduled to its usual day which is a Tuesday, on this occasion 30 June. Future meetings of the Committee should also be on Tuesdays to allow Council meetings to take place as originally scheduled or on an appropriate Thursday if a July meeting is necessary. Item 6.5 – 2050 Edinburgh City Vision

Committee:

Replace recommendations with

- 1) Notes that the key consensus point expressed by residents in the City Vision consultation is a wish to see a clean city and agrees that this should be given far greater priority in a redrafted document recognising that this should encompass a restoration of civic pride and a focus on the services that maintain our built and natural environment.
- 2) Notes that there are no measures of success in the document which makes it impossible to check progress either through Council processes or the suggested young peoples' conference. Therefore, agrees that any future version of a City vision should include measures of success to be reviewed through the democratic processes of the Council
- 3) Finally, Committee recognises that the Council cannot bind the priorities or vision of any future Council or its decision making processes and any attempt to do so would be profoundly undemocratic

6.6 - Edinburgh Poverty Commission

Add:

Item 6.7 - Spaces for People Programme Update

Committee:

Amends 1.1.1 by inserting “full stop” after “renewal” and deletes rest of paragraph “particularly in supporting businesses” and replaces with “The priority for bringing schemes forward should be reversed to begin with local high streets which have seen an increase in footfall and pedestrians that need the extra space, while also recognising the need for a dedicated support campaign for traders”.

Accepts 1.1.2 and 1.1.3 and 1.1.4 new

1.1.5 Requests that Network assessment and modelling takes place on the impact across city of all the agreed and proposed designs to date. This should also include any other major proposals (e.g. The Mound being closed at Bank Street) and focus on unintended consequences and outcomes of individual projects, which when brought together, may result in severing of the north of the city from the south. This would have a serious impact on both businesses and residents.

1.1.6 Agrees to immediately suspend and consider alternatives solutions for North Bridge which by limiting to one shared lane for both buses and cycles is inherently dangerous.

1.1.7 Regrets that despite unanimous local support, many local projects have yet to be instigated or included in plans to date, for example, the failure to include Raeburn Place in the Town Centre schemes outlined in 4.14, and requests further information on their inclusion within one P&S cycle.

1.1.8 Regrets that the sharing of design plans and their progress between officers, local elected members and stakeholders is still not as robust as is necessary and that a review of the timelines of communication should take place and be reported to Committee in the report outlined in 1.1.7 above.

1.1.6 Additionally notes concerns regarding transparency of process and strategic approach to provision of distancing measures across all areas of the city where they are needed, and in particular filling the significant gaps in the bike network and consistently providing at least minimum pavement widths as per the Edinburgh Street Design Guidance”

2. Commends the work done by ETAG in preparing the “Resilience, Reboot, Recover” strategy and agrees there should be no delay in its implementation.

4. Further agrees that control of the www.edinburgh.org domain name, the associated social media and digital channels and its 180,000 followers, be transferred to ETAG to form the basis of the communications strategy outlined in 2 above.
5. Recognising the financial shortfall of £56.5m faced by the Council this year due to the Coronavirus Pandemic, that Marketing Edinburgh should be wound up forthwith, and a decision on whether to establish a dedicated tourism resource within the council deferred until such times as the Council’s financial situation has stabilised.
6. Instructs officers to prepare a full proposal for the interim transfer of the International Convention & Conference Association Membership and the maintenance of the Customer Relationship Management system to the Edinburgh International Conference Centre on a strictly time-limited basis, in co-operation with the EICC board.

Item 8.2 – Motion by Councillor Day - Black Lives Matter

Notes that the Council facilitated the convening of an independent Panel, following a petition in 2016 to the then “Culture and Sport Committee”, to agree wording for a plaque at St Andrew Square more accurately reflecting the history of Henry Dundas.

Notes this panel met and agreed an approach but didn't manage to come to a consensus view to agree final wording for Council approval.

Notes a meeting was held on 9th June 2020 between the Council Leader, Depute Leader and panel member Sir Geoff Palmer to agree final wording. This meeting also had input from Edinburgh World Heritage, Edinburgh University (who checked details with academics) and Cllr Wilson (as relevant Convenor and former panel member as Lord Provost) and Cllr McNeese-Mechan as relevant Vice-Convenor.

Notes positive engagement has taken place with the owners of St Andrew Square to install a new plaque swiftly.

Committee agrees that the text below is an appropriate and accurate description and requests the Director of Place continues engagement with the owners to find the most appropriate place for this on-site to help tell Edinburgh's story.

“On the plinth at the centre of St Andrew Square stands a neoclassical column with a statue at the top. This represents Henry Dundas, 1st Viscount Melville (1742 – 1811). He was the Scottish Lord Advocate and an MP for Edinburgh and Midlothian, and the First Lord of the Admiralty. Dundas was a contentious figure, provoking controversies that resonate to this day. While Home Secretary in 1792 and first Secretary of State for War in 1796 he was instrumental in deferring the abolition of the Atlantic slave trade. Slave trading by British ships was not abolished until 1807. As a result of this delay, more than half a million enslaved Africans crossed the Atlantic. Dundas also curbed democratic dissent in Scotland.

Dundas both defended and expanded the British empire, imposing colonial rule on indigenous peoples. He was impeached in the United Kingdom for misappropriation of public money and although acquitted, he never held public office again. Despite this, the monument before you to Henry Dundas was funded by voluntary contribution from officers, petty officers, seamen and marines and erected in 1821, with the statue placed on top in 1827.

In 2020 this was dedicated to the memory of the more than half a million Africans whose enslavement was a consequence of Henry Dundas's actions.”

Item 8.2 Motion by Cllr Day – Black Lives Matter

Committee

Committee

Adds to the end

in so far as applicable in the UK, and notes:

1. The UK and Scottish Government statements that attending mass gatherings of any kind pose a risk to public health and people's lives during this emergency.
2. The organisers of the protests in Edinburgh maintained good order, in contrast to recent acts of public disorder and irresponsible and at times illegal behaviour elsewhere in the UK, which detracts from key anti-racist messages of tolerance and equality, puts lives at risk and runs contrary to the right of peaceful protest.
3. The work of Police Scotland in keeping all Edinburgh residents safe despite stretched resources, and maintaining the right to peaceful demonstration, and agrees that the Council shall seek fair funding for policing in Edinburgh.
4. The outstanding instruction of Council to add a plaque to the Melville Monument in St Andrew Square to put Henry Dundas in a full context, and instructs the Chief Executive to expedite this with appropriate academic input and through a process agreed by Council Committee.
5. Requests the Council Leader writes to the Scottish Government Cabinet Secretary for Health and Sport to ascertain what work the Scottish Government is undertaking to understand the higher fatality rate from Covid-19 in our BAME communities and in particular whether Bangladeshi and Pakistani communities are at the greatest risk, as recently identified by Public Health England.

Item 8.2 - Motion by Cllr Day – Black Lives Matter

Insert after paragraph 4:

"Committee recognises and supports calls from people of colour that cities, including Edinburgh, should acknowledge and address their roles in perpetuating racism and oppression in the past as part of the process of challenging it in the present."

"Committee recognises that many of the injustices of today - massive wealth inequality, climate breakdown and extreme labour exploitation - have their roots in colonialism and slavery."

"Committee notes the work of the Glasgow-based Commission for Racial Equality and Rights, including their recent publication 'Changing the Race Equality Paradigm' which concludes that, "Without a clear understanding of race and racism, even the most well-meaning efforts are likely to fail. This frustrating situation can only be reversed if institutions are willing to change their paradigm on race equality."

"Committee believes that the people of Edinburgh want the Council to take meaningful actions to remove entrenched structural racism and inequalities wherever they are found in our city's institutions and services and ensure that our young people receive an education that promotes inclusion and diversity and which includes BME history and culture across the curriculum and that work opportunities and resources are fairly available to all, and believes that many of the changes needed have been documented and quantified over recent years."

Insert at end:

"Committee therefore agrees:

1. That an action plan is brought forward by the Chief Executive within three cycles to introduce best practice in the council's recruitment and employment practices, including, but not limited to, ensuring that equality, diversity and anti-discrimination training is introduced as standard for all staff.
2. That the Director of Education bring forward an action plan within three cycles to enhance diversity and inclusion in Edinburgh's schools, that includes actions identified in recent committee papers, (Preventing and Responding to Bullying and Prejudice among Children and Young People October 2019 and Promoting Equality, October 2020) and includes actions to ensure that BME history and culture are included in all phases of secondary school education, across all disciplines in Edinburgh schools, and that the Leader of the Council write to the Private schools in Edinburgh asking them to demonstrate that they are doing the same.

3. That the Director of Culture bring forward a plan within three cycles to review any features within the council boundary which commemorate those with close links to slavery and colonialism, including, but not limited to, public statues and monuments, street or building names; further agrees that this review should be led by one or more members of the BME community, and should closely consult with the wider BME community, and that the review should consider all options, including removal of statues, and make recommendations to rectify the glorification of slavery and colonialism which these commemorations represent to many people.”

Item 8.4 – Motion by Councillor Watt - Funding of Temporary Accommodation for Homeless People

Add

Welcomes the motion and the potential to see former holiday property brought back into residential use for people in acute housing need; but notes that, as of 6 May 2020, the Unsuitable Accommodation Order was extended to apply to all homeless people, with the consequence that certain types of shared accommodation, such as bed and breakfast hostels, cannot be used for more than 7 days, except in relation to coronavirus-related emergencies for a limited period until 30 September; and therefore also seeks an update to all members on progress being made to eliminate the use of B&B hostels for all homeless applicants.

Notes that COVID-19 has both highlighted and exacerbated the harms caused to homeless dependant drinkers, and it is widely accepted that currently there is a need for suitable support and services for this group, in particular the lack of specialist addictions services. A new long-term project, Managed Alcohol Programme, (MAP) is being developed in Edinburgh to address this need and homelessness, backed by a strong academic case and keenly supported by the Scottish Government Drug and Alcohol Unit. And therefore agrees that CEC will work with H&SCP to identify suitable accommodation to enable the project to support this vulnerable homeless group.
