Pensions Committee

5 December 2023

Item 6.5 Holdings Report

Committee adds to recommendations;

2. Recognises that the Lothian Pension Fund (LPF) and its Pension committee have a fiduciary duty to maintain a sustainable income in order to pay the pensions of scheme members and manage costs for employers into the future - noting that some existing members could be collecting their pensions in 50 years' time (~2070);
3. Further recognises the UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change warning that unless global average temperatures can be kept below 1.5 C, climate change will cause increasingly devastating impacts worldwide likely to destabilise the global economy, and that the IPCC update in 2023 found that there is now a greater than 50% chance of reaching 1.5 degrees C between 2021 and 2040;
4. Notes the recent report by the Institute of Actuaries, University of Exeter, 'Emperor's New Climate Scenarios – a warning for financial services' showing that estimates of the impact of climate change on the global economy and financial assets is being significantly underestimated;
5. Notes the fiduciary duty to recognise the specific financial risk to the LPF of continuing to invest in fossil fuel companies, particularly given the risk of reduced investment value as government regulation on climate change intensifies and further notes the risk of LPF being left with 'stranded assets'. Recognises that the extent of this financial risk is difficult to accurately estimate, but that a precautionary approach to continued fossil fuel investments would be in line with fiduciary duty;

6. Therefore is concerned that climate change threatens the future income of the LPF, the pensions of its members and furthermore, its members' ability to enjoy their pensions and retirement in the long-term;

7. Notes that the LPF is putting significant effort into engagement with fossil fuel companies, however further notes that the Climate Action 100+ assessment in October 2023 showed that none of the major oil and gas companies' future capital expenditure plans are aligned with the Paris Agreement;

8. Welcomes that the Lothian Pension Fund is already committed to 'support the goal of transitioning the real economy to net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050 or sooner' and 'to research and support the deployment of new impact capital into projects set to benefit from the transition to a low carbon economy' and further welcomes that 3% of the LPF is currently invested in renewable energy;

9. Notes that the LPF already has an existing commitment to consider divestment from companies who by 2025 do not have a plan to align with the Paris Agreement of the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change;

10. Notes that since investments in fossil fuels represents only 2% (1/50th) of the value of the LPF, transfer of investment away from those companies whose principal business is extraction and supply of fossil fuels, should not significantly affect the overall income of the fund;

11. Notes the concern of LPF officers about calls for divestment across a range of issues, however believes that the direct threat to members' pensions from ongoing fossil fuel exploitation and climate change, provides a strong fiduciary justification and financial case for divestment from fossil fuel companies and alternative investment including low carbon energy and industry, that cannot be made for investments in other areas;

12. Believes that the LPF can do more to contribute to the ongoing transition from polluting fossil fuels to low carbon energy and industry in order to help mitigate climate change, contribute to protecting the global economy, sustain LPF income and protect members' pensions and well-being;

13. Therefore, requests that LPF officers provide a report to the next committee on the progress being made towards, and the feasibility of, reducing current investments in fossil fuel companies and increasing investment in the transition to low-carbon energy and industry, including;

- a. the pros and cons for sustainability of fund income over the short to long-term
- b. a potential outline plan and timeline for achieving this goal
